This presentation will summarize the contemporary ethical case for, and the contemporary ethical case against, the legalization of voluntary euthanasia and/or physician-assisted suicide, and it will consider whether, and if so how, those cases have changed across the long history of the debate in the US and the UK.